

RENAULT CARRIAGE

"Victoria Park" 1890s

A Classic Carriage

This Park Victoria carriage is a classic showcase of the styling, lines and early technology that carried over from carriages to automobiles.

This carriage is a Park Victoria, a comfortable, open four-wheeled carriage with two small front wheels and two large rear wheels with accommodation for four or five passengers. It features leather fenders to protect passengers from debris, and a suspension system that would have brought an unprecedented level of comfort to its passengers. The carriage also features a retractable roof and no doors. This Park Victoria is exceptionally rare due to its original, unrestored condition.

If imagining this carriage with doors and a front end, it is possible to see the resemblance between early automobiles and carriages of this era. This Park Victoria was used at a French chateau and then was part of Jean Philippe Felix Marie de Neree tot Babberich's Dutch collection before joining the Mullin Collection in 2014.
